Date:	May 29, 2015
Criteria	Ms. Rosalie C. Mead Women in Manufacturing Scholarship was established to honor and recognize Ms. Mead. Ms. Rosalie Mead began her working career as an elementary school teacher in Cleveland, OH in the late 1960's. She and her husband, John Mead along with her children moved to Danville, VA in 1978. Once in Danville, Rosalie became an advocate for battered women and became a Board Member of Doves, the Danville battered women's shelter. All of her work provided the necessary experience to join John in the establishment of Master Gage &amp; Tool Co. in 1986. Over the 29 years of business, Rosalie has performed the duties of controller, office administrator, Human Resource Director, inside sales and shipping and receiving. She also holds the title of Owner of Master Gage &amp; Tool Co. One of the most impactful accomplishments for Rosalie was her design of the new office and calibration lab facilities. The facility was renovated and currently houses the state-of-the-art calibration lab, administrative offices and sales office. Through her efforts, Master Gage &amp; Tool Co. also opened a Charlotte, NC office. Much of Master Gage &amp; Tool Co.'s success can be attributed to Rosalie's constant concern for her employees and the people in the Danville community. Through this scholarship for women in manufacturing, Rosalie will continue contributing to the growth of women in our community through educational opportunities. This scholarship has been created to provide financial assistance for one female graduating Danville Community College student annually.
